It pays to invest in Quality

Rycon High Speed PVC Door Material

Rycon High Speed door material is available in a wide variety of colors, thicknesses, surface finishes, and strength ratings.

Our material has excellent tear strength and offers high flex resistance for a long service life under arduous conditions.

We can supply many different grades depending on the usage required, please discuss your particular requirement with our belt engineers, to supply the best belt for your door.

Rydell can also fit and install flexible windows or panels to specific order, either high frequency welded or fitted with removable fasteners. Just contact your nearest branch for additional information.

We also stock and sell open length timing belt in both rubber and polyurethane construction as well as flat drive belting to suit most automatic door applications. Ask your nearest branch for details.
